GLASSWARE CARE & HANDLING

Quick Tips:

- Keep adequate inventory of glassware to prevent recently washed glasses from going directly into service, ever during rushes.
- Place guides on scrap table for busboys to place glass, china and flatware in separate areas.
- Check dishwasher temperature twice daily. Replace worn glass washer brushes.
- Always use plastic scoops in ice bins. Metal scoops sometimes chip the glassware. Never scoop ice with the glass.
- Never put cold water or ice into a warm or hot glass.
- Ideally, bus glassware directly into racks or use divided bus trays with flatware baskets.
- Color code or label your racks for different glassware types.
- Inspect your glasses routinely for severe abrasions and remove from service that may become a safety hazard to your employees or guests.

DINNERWARE CARE AND HANDLING

Consider:

- Having your dishwasher serviced to ensure the rinse cycle is functioning properly and that the correct concentration of rinse agent is being dispensed.
- How other factors may affect the rate of wear on your dinnerware: higher quality flatware is less likely to leave scratch marks, and certain foods and beverages will stain tableware more quickly.
- Periodically soaking dinnerware using a soak agent will help protect against the gradual build-up of proteins that contribute to staining and marks.

Never:

- Leave soiled dishes to stand overnight.
- Continue to use dishes with chips or cracks.

Always:

- Carefully scrape away any stuck-on food before washing. Use a rubber or plastic scraper only.
- Separate china, metalware and glassware into dedicated bus boxes.
- Store dinnerware away from food and prep areas.
- Wash soiled china as soon as possible.
- Pre-rinse with 110° to 120°F water.
- Carefully follow the directions on any solutions or chemicals to avoid etching the glaze surface.

BASIC KNIVES & USAGE

Paring Knife

Four styles of paring knives are most common: curved, spear, sharp and clip point. Curved or Sharped paring knives may be used for finely sliced pepper rings, silvered olives and cherries. A cook's paring or speared point knife can be used to remove corn from the cob, break up heads of lettuce or cabbage, peel fruit and vegetables, cut beans, etc. A clip point knife is used for eyeing potatoes, seeding, peeling and pitting.

Utility Knife

Sharp 6" utility knife is most efficient for slicing non-solid fruits and vegetables, such as tomatoes or squash. For acid fruits a stainless steel blade is preferred. Useful for cutting melon rings, heads of lettuce into wedges or preparing cabbage.

Boning Knife

Blades vary in length from 4" to 8". Cooks simplify carving and get extra servings by boning out a roast when it is partially cooked. For boning roasts, whole hams, lamb legs, veal legs and filleting fish, a narrow blade is the best.

Butcher, Cimeter Steak Knife & Cleaver

For odd jobs in the kitchen, butcher and cimeter steak knives can be used for dicing salt pork, cubing cold meats, cutting steaks or trimming raw meat. The cleaver is used for opening lobsters, cutting poultry, etc.

Cook's Knife

Blade lengths of 8" to 12". Cook's knife has more uses than any other knife in a kitchen. Blade is wider at the handle and tapers to the point. Deep choil protects knuckles when dicing or mincing celery, onions, nuts, meats, parsley, peppers, etc.

Slicers & Carvers

Most important knife in this category is the roast beef slicer. It is used to carve rounds, boneless roasts, boiled briskets, pot roasts and standing rib roasts. The roast beef slicer has a wider blade and tends to have a more stiff straight edge than serrated edge blades
